Who's it for:

"A lot more than baby-sitting" is a training day for church based children's work volunteers. The day is planned as a general introduction to working with children in a church setting. There will be plenty of time for sharing experience and questions.

Who's leading:

The Training Day Leader is Alex Owen.

Alex is currently Senior Lecturer at Oasis College with responsibility for the Children's Work and Ministry pathway. She studied Christian Life and Ministry at London School of Theology and then Youth Ministry and Theological Education at King's College, London. She has worked with and ministered to children and young people for the last 12 years, most recently as Assistant Minister with primary responsibility for children and youth at Stanmore Baptist Church. She is also involved in writing for various publications and speaks at a number of Christian conferences. She has two little girls called Grace and Bella. Alex enjoys her family, her friends, the sunshine, people with passion and creativity.

If there is a particular area of children's ministry that you are interested in receiving training in e.g. behaviour management, the use of story telling, running a small group etc, please indicate this below:

Obviously we may end up with a very diverse set of responses and it may not be possible to deal with all the issues raised in this training day. But if some common themes or areas begin to emerge from these comments we will try to include them in the material on the day.
